Safe drinking water worry for Jajpur villages while battling flood !

The worries are swelling up as major part of the Jajpur district including the worst affected Bari Block battles flood, non-availability of safe drinking water has begun to haunt people of the affected villages. tube-wells, dug-wells and other drinking water resources are contaminated and the threat of waterborne diseases looms large in villages. Absence of safe drinking water is a major concern.

With villages submerged in flood-water people have taken shelter in schools and other safer places. Now they need water and food to survive. The COVID19 pandemic is another major challenge for the flood response. People are waiting for Rural Water and Sanitation department to arrange drinking water for the flood-hit people through water tankers and pipes, however, the situation is getting worsen day-by-day with a fear of post-flood health disaster.
The floods in Brahmani and Baitarani river However, 13 out of the total 29 flood affected panchayats are still fighting to stay afloat in this terrible flood situation. Assuring the affected people, Jajpur Collector Ranjan Kumar Dash said, “We have supplied rice and parched rice to many flood-affected areas in the district today. Polythene too will reach to those areas soon. Free kitchen services have been made available in more than 40 different places.”

On the other hand, hundreds of electricity substations are submerged in flood water leading to complete darkness in flood-hit areas. Subsequently, the telecommunications and several other emergency services have come to a halt in these areas. Women managing families with young kids and old members under such condition is harrowing to say the least. Supply of medicines or unavailability of health care providers in flood-hit areas amid the already stressed and corona-battered healthcare system is negligible.
